CANALS.

We last week published an article from the Toledo Blade in which improvements on the Erie and Miami Canal were recommended. This canal connects Toledo and Cincinnati via of a number of cities in the west of the state through which it passes; and connected with it is another canal tending south-westwardly, leading to Ft. Wayne, Terra Haute, Indiana. As has the Ohio Canal, the great public work which passes through this city, been a source of incalculable advantage to the region of country contiguous to its waters, so also have these western works been of immense utility to the people along their margins. The comparatively slow method of transportation by this means of artificial inland communication is in a great measure compensated by its safety, cheapness and certainty. Heavy freight, consisting of coal, lime, gypsum, marble, ore, building stone and other crude materials find canal transportation of vast utility; and even the traders in lumber, iron, grain of various kinds, flour, pork and a long list of heavy articles, that may be named, chose these water courses for conveying millions of tons of freight from and to different parts of the country. Although other public works have been of great advantage to Massillon in promoting its wealth, growth and prosperity, yet this fact has not faided from the memory of many of our older people that at one time our city was the grand depot for the wheat and flour market for an area of country probably fifty miles or more in every direction. These were the palmy, prosperous days of the rapidly growing, enterprising, public spirited place, and then was laid the foundation of much of its solid wealth. As it was with Massillon, so it was with many other towns and cities, and even the entire country surrounding these vigorous towns was immensely the gainer from the sources of communication opened up by canals constructed in other days. Many of us can well remember before these public works were built when our ancestor, used to convey their wheat, flour, pork and other farm products sometimes fifty to one hundred miles, to Pittsburg, Cleveland, and points along the Ohio river, where they then sold their flour at three dollars a barrel; but when the canal became navigable so that farmers could get to a market within fifty miles, they felt that they were doing a great thing when realizing a dollar a bushel for their wheat. But this all belongs to the past. It is thought by many of our very shrewd, inteligent business men that if the capacity of these canals could be improved, so that they would be enabled to do increased work, that even now it is well worthy to expend means liberally for such an object. What has been done successfully can be repeated with like results. The object of the article on the improvement of canals published last week was to direct public attention to this end, recommending that efficient measures be taken to carry out the contemplated idea. If done in the western portion of Ohio, (and who knows how soon it may be consummated?) it is time that the people in this part of the state should be alive to a corresponding movement. There is a great deal of quiet wealth lying round loose which might be placed in active use in this direction, that would be of incalculable benefit to every community in which it is located.

In thus commending the propriety and even necessity of canal improvements we are not to ignore and underrate the railroad facilities that are extending all over and ramifying almost every part of the country. There is no need of a conflict of interests between the two methods of movement both have their obvious advantages.

Bro. Sinsebaugh, writer of the following article, which appears in the Pittsburg Christian Advocate, of Jan. 28, has a large circle of friends in this county, he having faithfully and efficiently occupied the pulpit in the M. E. church of Canton for three years, we believe, who would be glad to hear a further report in this case. Will Bro. S. explain by what power the young lady went to Heaven and returned, as she reports, and if the facts are accepted, if that other world is any longer "that bourn from which no traveler returns." To many readers the following narration of facts may seem strange, while to others they are somewhat familiar. It is not at all probable that the young lady was attempting to deceive anybody by her extraordinary amount of a rather unusual experience; and the writer we believe to be a man who deals in facts, so it cannot be that he would even attempt to mislead his readers. Who can explain the wonder?

SINGULAR CIRCUMSTANCE.

BY REV. H. SINSABAUGH.

I know a man in Christ above fourteen years ago (whether in the body, I cannot tell, or whether out of the body, I cannot tell; God knoweth;) such a one caught up to the third heaven."

I have been requested by many persons to give to the public an account of a very singular occurrence that has transpired recently within the bounds of my district. I shall give you names, dates, and facts, allowing your readers to draw their own inferences; and, desiring that any who may be incredulous as to the facts may have the privilege of ascertaining their veracity, as there are perhaps, more than a hundred persons in that neighborhood, who will readily bear witness.

On the 7th of November, Rev. Joseph N. Pershing, of the Salisbury circuit, began a series of meetings at Kelley's station, on the West Penn. railroad, where the Methodists have a small, unfinished church and a very feeble society. The few composing the church were disheartened and seemed reluctant to co-operate with the pastor at the beginning of the meeting. However, as the work began to take on more hopeful features, they entered upon it with a degree of cordiality. While these meetings were in progress in the church, a company of Universalists met each evening in a house near by, for the purpose of discussing their doctrines of belief. They indulged freely in ridiculing Methodist doctrines and usages, as also orthodoxy in general, and did their utmost to divert the minds of the people from the subject of personal salvation. The pastor was ordered by certain of these to erase from the church records the names of some of the young people who had joined the church, at the same time threatening their children with punishment should they go to the altar of prayer.

During the second Sabbath evening of the meeting the opposition became very violent, and the prospect was so discouraging that the pastor had about concluded to close the meetings. A sermon was preached, however, and penitents invited forward, when a young lady, Miss Effeline Taylor, a daughter of Mr. John Taylor, of White's station, a young lady of quiet and amiable disposition, came forward for prayers.

With the exception of her mother and herself, all the members of the family were either members of the Universalist church or strongly in sympathy with their doctrines. One of her brothers took a very leading part in their public discussions. She remained at the altar for quite a length of time, appearing to be calm in mind, and yet earnestly and devoutly looking for the mercy of God. About 9 o'clock, her prayer seemed to have been answered. Her face wore an expression of unusual brightness as she looking upward repeated several times with distinct emphasis, "O, that beautiful place over there." She became entirely unconscious and was carried to a house near by, it being thought unadvisable to remove her to her father's house, which was about 3 miles distant. In this condition she remained for seven days, in the meantime taking no nourishment, whatever.

On Tuesday she began to speak in a low tone of voice and for a half an hour told of the scenes of another world, after which she remained silent for several hours. She spoke of having been conducted to the place of lost souls, and heard their wailings of dispair, and was then conducted to the gates of heaven. Her description of what she saw and heard, was so vivid and transporting, that the large company present wept freely. She spoke of those whom she had known who had died, and who were recognized in glory, clad in shining raiment with unknown names on their foreheads. She called them over by name one after a other, including the names of all the children she had known who had died, with all those tokens of surprise and delight, which attend an actual meeting of long absent friends.

The first of whom she spoke were two ministers, one was the Rev. A. H. Thomas, of the Pittsburgh conference, the other was the Rev. Mr. White, of the Presbyterian church at Salisbury, but who some years ago had resigned his charge for another in Ohio. He was not known to any present as deceased, but upon inquiry it was found that he had died a few days before. Of this event, neither Miss Taylor, nor any member of her father's family had heard.

Persons were recognized there whom she did not expect to see, while others for whom she inquired she was informed were not among that number. Many other things concerning another world were written down and are relying before me, expressed in language most beautiful and appropriate, but which if given would trespass upon the columns of your paper.

Many expedients were used to restore her to consciousness, among which were singing and animated religious services but all without the desired effect. On Friday her friends became very much alarmed owing to the opinions expressed by physicians, that having been so long without food she would never be restored. The effort was made to give her some nourishment, but in vain. She was asked whether she would ever be able to rise? when she replied, "My Saviour has not yet told me." At different times she had spoken of her Savior as present with her as her guide and instructor. Shortly after this she told them that her Savior had just informed her that she might return to earth on Sabbath evening at 9 o'clock. This statement occasioned a joyful surprise to her anxious friends. The father said that should it thus come to pass he would believe all she would say concerning the future state.

On Sabbath evening a large company of the neighbors had gathered to learn the sequel. There was no clock in her room, nor any way in which she could mark the flight of the hours, for her eyes had remained closed from the first. At three minutes before 9 she raised her right hand and waved it as if giving farewell to persons vanishing in the distance, and then raised her left hand in like manner, and at precisely 9 o'clock she opened her eyes, spoke a greeting to her friends, began praising the Lord, and called upon those around to join her in praise for His great mercy. When asked if she was hungry, she replied that she was not so in the least; that she had been fed with milk and honey, and in fact her strength was so wonderfully renewed that it seemed that she had been fed by an unseen hand.

The original paper on which these statements were written as they fell from her lips, is in the hands of Rev. J. N. Pershing. It is a most remarkable narration of events, and a description of scenes that she witnesses were as real to her as any other in her whole life. As to the effect of this event upon the community, there was no further opposition to the meeting. One of the gentlemen, who had ordered his son's name stricken from the church list, came to the pastor, and desired that it might remain there. The meeting went forward gloriously, with many conversions, and the number of members doubled at that appointment.

THE VISION OF WASHINGTON.

(Translated from German by Rev. Beck.)

The following description is related by Anthony Sherman, an old gentleman of ninety years, who had it from the old general himself. The darkest period of the American Revolution was in the year 1777, when Washington after dreadful reverses, retired to Valley Forge, to encamp during the winter. Often did I see the tears of distress course down the cheeks of the loved commander, when he reflected on the extreme sufferings of his brave soldiers. Washington had the habit of praying to God for help and prosperity. The assistance of Jehovah alone could avail. A certain day Washington spent by himself in his chamber, and when he came out he looked unusually pallid. Then he related as follows:

"As I sat this afternoon writing and my mind was deeply weighed down with trouble, I discovered opposite to me a most beautiful female form. I was much surprised, for I had given most peremptory orders not to be disturbed by any one. I could not, on the moment, find words to inquire of this unlooked for visitor. Three or four times I inquired with out recieving an answer. She only elevated her eyes a little. I felt now an extraordinary sensation throughout my whole body. I would have risen up, but the staring of my mysterious visitor made me displeased with her.—I tried again to address her but my tongue was tied. A certain unknown, mysterious irresistable power overpowered me. I was unable to do any thing but stare at the apparition. By degrees the room became filled with a remarkable light; the image herself became luminous and bright. I now had the feeling of a dying person. I could not think, reflect or move. I am only conscious that I looked sternly on the vision. Here I heard the voice saying, "Son of the Republic, look and learn," at the same time the figure stretched out her hand and pointed eastward. Transparent clouds arose in the distance, and these lifting themselves, there was formed a most astonishing figure before me. Before me spread all the countries of Europe, Asia, Africa and America. Between Europe and America I saw tremendous waves brandishing, and also between America and Asia. Again the voice repeated 'Son of the Republic look up and learn;' instantly I beheld a darksome image, as of an angel, poised between America and Europe. He dipped water with both hands, and with his right hand he poured water on America, and with his left hand on Europe. In a moment black clouds arose from both countries, which met half way upon the Atlantic. Livid lightnings flashed through the dark clouds. I heard the deep groanings of the American people. Again the clouds before, then the dark clouds receded and sank into the ocean. Now a third time I heard the voice, "Son of the Republic, look up and learn." I beheld more distinctly what it was. Upon this the dark angel turned toward the south, and I saw a horrible grizzly spectre, approaching from Africa to our country. It moved heavily over our towns and fields. The population now arose for war and paraded in battle array, one part against the other. As I contemplated this scene I discovered an angle of light, and on his head was a glorious crown, with the word Union inscribed. In his hands he carried the American banner and cried 'Remember, you are brethren.' Immediately the armed hosts threw down their weapons, became friends and marshalled under the Star Spangled Banner. Again I heard the mysterious voice, "Son of the Republic, look up and learn, the second danger is passed." And now I saw towns and cities, and fields increasing in number until the whole country was thickly covered from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and the people were as stars of the firmament and sands of the sea shore—innumerable. Again I heard 'Son of the Republic, the end of one century is now approaching, look up and learn.'" Upon this the dark angel set a trumpet to his mouth and blasted thrice and dipped water with his hands and poured it on Asia, Europe, and Africa. Now I beheld most a horrible scene. From each of these countries, arose black and heavy clouds which all united in one great mass; through these spread lurid lightnings, and I beheld immense armed multitudes, marching and sailing towards America, which were soon enveloped in the black clouds. And I beheld how those immense armies wasted and burned our towns and cities. And now I heard the thunder of cannon, the furious clash of swords, and the warshouts of millions encountered in deadly strife. Again heard the mysterious sound "Son of the Republic, look up and learn." After this the dark angel gave another loud, long and terrible blast. Now suddenly broke forth and dispersed the black clouds from over America's country. After this I saw an angel with the glorious crown inscribed "Union," descending from heaven accompanied by legions of glorified spirits; having in one hand a sword and in the other the Star Spangled Banner. And these were all associated with the American people who were nearly overwhelmed, but who were now inspired with new courage and renewed the battle array. Now again, amid the din of battle, I heard the voice "Son of the Republic look up and learn." After the repeat of this voice, the dark angel, for the last time, dipped water and sprinkled it on the American continent, when the dark clouds rolled back instantly, leaving the glorious victory to America. Then I saw towns and cities, and improvements arise like magic, while the angel of light planted the Star Spangled Banner amidst the multitudes of people and cried, "As long as the stars of heaven endure and the dew falls upon this earth, so long shall this Republic endure." And while he took and set it upon the Star Spangled Banner; the vast multitude bending underoth, unitedly cried out, 'Amen.' Now by degrees the vision vanished and nothing but the mysterious and ever beautiful female creature, who once more said, 'Son of the Republic, what thou hast seen is thus to be expounded. Three great and dangerous calamities will come over this republic, the second is the greatest. When this is overcome the world cannot conquer it. Now let every citizen of this Republic learn to serve God, his father and the blessed Union." With these words the image disappeared. I arose from my chair with the full conviction that this was a revelation to me of the birth of this republic, its progress and its varied destinies.

All this history says Mr. Sherman, I myself heard from the mouth of General Washington.—Lancaster (Ohio) Gazette, 1801.

What an easy thing it is to drive a locomotive, says the National Car Builder. Pull a lever, away she goes; pull another, she slacks up and stops. That's all. The quick eye, firm hand, prompt courage, the knowledge of every rod of road, the putting on of steam on an ascent, or the shutting off on a down grade, the difference in expansion of rails between hot and cold, wet and dry, and the perpetual risk of life and limb and property, are matters unknown to people who pay their fare, take their ticket and get to their journey's end. All the while their lives have been in the hands of a grum looking man at the end of the train, whom, if they meet at the end of the platform they avoid lest they should soil their silks or kerseymeres by the contact. These men should be and often are scientifically educated; but they have no social position, and their wages are absolutely inadequate to their responsibilities. The gentlemanly conductor is a personage of consideration; the patron of the passengers, and the respected of directors. The engineer is a mere mechanic. The world is full of injustice and irregularities.

UNCOVERING A BURIED CITY.

Some remarkable discoveries have recently been made on the two islands of the Greek Archipelago, called respectively Santorin and Therasia. These two islands, with a third, form a sort of circular bay. The inner coast presents a series of cliffs, sometimes reaching to a height of thirteen hundred feet. On the top of these cliffs lies a bed of pumice stone of brilliant whiteness. From the summit the land slopes away gently to the open sea, and is everywhere covered with a coat of tufa or pozzulolana, at times more than one hundred feet deep. Here and there upon the slopes are scattered poor little villages. There is, however, no soil but a friable pumice, the dust of which is raised and carried in eddies by very strong winds.

This pumice, when duly mixed with lime, produces a hard cement, which has the quality of great resistance to the action of the weather and sea water. It has for some time been exported, and the works at the Suez canal have caused lately an increased demand for it. In quarrying, tufa has been quite cut through, and beneath have been found remains of buildings erected by the primitive settlers in the islands.

The first discoveries were made in Therasia. On the southern face of the island, between two capes in which it terminates, are vast open quarries. The works are at the edge of the cliffs, and the material is hurled down some five hundred feet to the base, whence it is directed by shoots into boats. The workmen have been accustomed not to cut down to the bottom of the stratum, since below a certain level they found that the pozzulolana was mixed with blocks of stone, which, besides making it more difficult to work, reduced its value. These blocks lay in regular lines, and were the crests of walls. There can be no doubt that the buildings were raised to dwell in, and that the pumice which covered them had not been stirred since it first fell from the volcanoes.

The principal building uncovered contains six rooms of various sizes, the largest being about twenty feet by seventeen feet, the smallest a little more than eight feet square. One of the walls is carried out so far as to enclose a sort of court, about twenty-six feet long, with a single entrance. A smaller building of one chamber has been opened close to this; and the crests of several walls in the neighborhood bear witness to the existence of houses still buried. The masonry is quite different from that at present in use on the island, containing neither pozzulolana nor lime. The walls are composed of irregular blocks of unhewed lava, laid one above the other without order, the interstices being filled up with reddish colored volcanic ashes. Among the walls are laid in every direction long branches of olive wood, now for the most part so decayed that they crumble at the first touch. The object of these was to make the walls less ridged, and so less subject to disturbances from earthquakes.

One human skeleton was found; that of a man of middle age, who was doubled in one corner of the room as if crushed under the weight of the room when it broke in. Much of his property escaped destruction, and objects of various kinds were there; vessels of lava and earthenware, grain, straw, bones of animals, tools of flint, and of lava. There was no trace of metals, not even a nail in the woodwork of the roof. The pottery is of several kinds. Large, yellowish jars, holding sometimes as much as twenty gallons, are the most common. They contained barley, peas anise, etc.

Massillon, Wednesday, February 15.

Railroad projects are still agitating our people, and the north and south route seems to be fast assuming definite shape. A unanimity of feeling as well as of interests is becoming more and more apparent; and parties who are prepared to do so, can render liberal aid, are evincing their favor by active measures in the right direction. As Massillon is materially interested we may say with much confidence that our citizens are wide awake, and will do a fair portion toward making the project a success. The Lake Shore Road is deeply concerned in the movement, and we are informed will be liberal in their means toward the proposed work, while the people along the route are manifesting that interest which assures a speedy completion of the work.

"Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." Among other things this significent fact implies, very decidedly, that when a man, who once has been in the habit of drinking so much liquor if he concludes to abandon the bad habit, he has to be perpetually on the watch, as there is an enemy continually after him. Temptations are all around him—at almost every corner, and often between the corners, a grogshop stars him in the face, holding out all its infernal allurements to entice him to violate his temperance professions. All such must be on their guard perpetually, otherwise there is no safety.

George W. House, secretary of the Northern Ohio Fair Association, located at Cleveland, gives notice through circulars, that the second annual fair will begin Tuesday, September 12th and continue until the Saturday following—five days. The unexpected and unprecedented success of last year's fair, the first effort, has inspired, the managers with confidence, and now they will use their utmost efforts to increase the accommodations, buildings, means of access to the place and make all other needed improvements possible to meet the needs of the coming fair. Ample room is provided as there are 90 acres of ground belonging to the association, to increase all requisite accommodations. A horse fair is contemplated to be held time in June.

Another of those terrible railroad accidents, which shock the nation in the recital of the particulars, occurred on the Hudson River Road, in New York, near New Hamburg, on the 7th inst. A freight train, carrying a large quantity of oil in open tanks, one account says, accidently broke an axle, which happened to stop it at a draw-bridge. An express train approaching the same point from a different direction, could not be stopped in time, so it rushed upon the oil train, setting fire to the tanks, at the same time throwing the locomotive of the former into the river, followed by the baggage car and some half dozen sleeping cars, part of which were in a moment enveloped in flames before they went down. How many lives were lost by this calamity is unknown, but there must have been a considerable number. The engineer of the express was killed immediately, and a Chicago sleeping car so fastened that nobody could get out, so death was certain to its inmates either by fire or water, or both. Among the killed was George S Benedict and wife, both of Cleveland—the former son of G. S. Benedict, sr., one of the proprietors of the Cleveland Herald. This young man, aged about 30 years, was esteemed by all who knew him, and his sudden death has stricken a large circle of relatives and friends with deep sorrow. As is usual the daily papers are criticising the cause of the calamity, attributing it to this, that and the other piece of carelessness. Sad as may be this accident it is but another evidence of the shortsightedness of humans in foreseeing danger so as to avert it.

Delegates were in attendance from various other parts of the state during the meeting of the G. A. R. Encampment at this place. Some one from Xenia gives a lively account of the doings, adding thereto several facts concerning this city and a few of its notable characteristics in the Torch light of that place. He begins by correcting the common expression, Molly Stark, and says it should be Sally Stark—so says Hildreth's History. He eulogizes the Opera House as justly the pride of the city. It is all right excepting the frescoing which he criticises savagely, deciding it to be simply horrible. Some people don't see it in that light. As to the presentation by our home amateurs, of the Union Spy, he says, "We have seen many worse performances on the stage by professionals who, no doubt, would sneer at our country cousins." The writer is also sharp on another point when he says, "Gas is at a discount in Massillon. The two iron furnaces illuminated the city instead, and surrounding country." In a political way G. A. R. says, "Massillon, we are informed, will present the name of Hon. R. H. Folger as candidate for the next lieutenant governor. He is a prominent lawyer, well posted in politics, and is to be credited with the honor of being one of the old original abolitionists." So our town is looking up. He refers in deservedly complimentary terms to our hotels, and regards them meriting public patronage. In conclusion he informs us that some 1,500 miners are at work in this vicinity.

At an election held for justice of the peace, at Salem, last week, R. H. Garrigues, the present incumbent, and James H. Brown, a colored man, were the candidates. Garrigues recieved 341 votes, Brown 140—majority for Garrigues 201. Mr. Brown was the democratic candidate, as all the votes he recieved, but 17 were given by that party. Mr. B. is now a disappointed office seeker, and since his defeat has declared for the democracy. It will take a long time for the democracy of that Perry township to secure the ascendency if this is the way they have to gain votes.

"The countess fell back in a deadly swoon. When she returned her spirit had fled."—Excerpt from the last French novel.

This is matched only by Tom Bishop's prayer, uttered nearly fifty years ago. He was praying at certain ungodly young men, when he essayed to frighten them by the terrors of death, and told them they would "feel monsus quare if they waked up in the mornin and found themselves dead."

We have recieved a circular containing the following announcement: The Golden Age, a new weekly journal, edited by Theodore Tilton, devoted to the free discussion of all living questions in church, state, society, literature, art and moral reform. Published every Wednesday in New York at $3 a year, cash, in advance. Mr. T. having retired from The Independent and The Brooklyn Daily Union, will hereafter devote his whole editorial labors to the Golden Age. Persons wishing to subscribe will please send their names, with the money, address Theodore Tilton, P. O. box 2848, New York City. When this new paper comes out, which will be in a short time, we may look for an able, lively, independent sheet, and it will not be surprising if it causes a shaking among the dry bones of conservatism in various quarters.

Much alarm has been felt and expressed in the papers and otherwise within the last week in consequence of not receiving intelligence from the steamer Tennessee, which left New York more than four weeks ago, having on board the commission appointed by the government to make an examination into the affairs of San Domingo. These commissioners consisted of three among the distinguished men of this country—Dr. S. G. Howe of Boston, the first man in the country to establish an asylum for the blind; Prof. White of one of the leading colleges in the union, and B. F. Wade of this state, one of the most practical men of the times. Accompanying them were Frederick Douglass and son, and several other personages of more or less note. Up to Monday no direct news was received of the fate of the vessel, but hopes were entertained that all is safe.

The hunkers on the womans' rights question are terribly howling at an anno, ance, as they allege, because these claimants for political privileges are beseeching congress to remove obstacles against their enfranchisement. The subject created considerrble commotion in congress the other day.

The probability is that congress will soon act on the apportionment bill. What the representative number will be placed at is not definitely known, but 150,000 is the calculation, and if adopted it will lessen the delegations from some of the states, others may hold their own, while a third class will diminish their delegations to the lower house.

The Alabama claims are to be settled by a commission, composed of gentlemen named by the English government and a like appointment of competent men on behalf of our government. This body is to hold their conferences at Washington, and all Americans who have claims against the British government, and Englishmen having claims against our government are to present them before this tribunal, whose action is to be final. That is the way the Alabama question seems to stand now—and it looks like a very sensible, business like way of adjusting long standing difficulties.

The latest news from Napoleon, who is not so much emperor as he was, is, that, he is in the complaining mood. As long as France continued to present a bold front to the enemy he was satisfied with what happened to his dinasty, but when his countrymen got badly whipped, then he thinks it is time to speak out, urging his claims upon the country he so much abused during his nearly a quarter of a century's misrule. There may be some Frenchmen so humble as to ask that he once more be placed on the throne, but certainly a large majority will never be satisfied with having him to rule their destines. If the Gauls are so fond of the name Napoleon as to suffer such a thing patiently, they are ready to lick the hand that smites them.

We read the huge Demorat of Canton and enjoy it hugely, giving the bonnie Scot credit for all his boondy produced bon mots that are intended to prove the progressive spirit about the court house, and that taxes are not high at the metropolis, yet we are inclined to "blush unseen" when he advertises such innovations, as a temple for changing money, under the auspices of ex officios, and under the office of the people's treasury, without a word of friendly caution to the unsuspecting public. Truly times are changed, when the "unterrified" of a few years ago, is the fawning follower of to-day.

Alice Carey, one of the gifted poets of this country died at her residence in New York city on last Sunday at the age of fifty years.

Hon. Martin Welker, of Ohio, has introduced into Congress a bill for the incorporation and establishment of a free University in Washington City, with the name of the National University of Washington. The institution is to be under the control of a board of regents, five of whom are to be residents of the District of Columbia, and are to be appointed by the President. The donation of $10,000 to the university is to constitute any person a life regent. The bill proposes a grant of one million acres of land for the erection of buildings, the furnishing of apparatus, etc.—Ohio Educational Monthly.

There was filed, Wednesday, at the office of the Secretary of State, the certificate of incorporation of the Wheeling & Toledo Railroad Company; termini Bridgeport, Belmont county, and the city of Toledo, passing through Belmont, Harrison Tuscarawas, Stark, Holmes, Wayne, Ashland, Richland, Crawford, Huron, Seneca, Sandusky, Ottawa, Wood and Lucas counties. Capital stock one million.

The French elections have only too perfectly justified the apprehensions we expressed in regard to the fatal effects of Republican dissensions. The Government of National Defense was deprived beforehand of the moral force it could have exerted among the peasantry if it had been compact and united. As it was, the only symbols of authority these ignorant rustics could see or comprehend were the local gentry, who were usually of the traditional monarchical parties, and the clergy, who of course supported candidates hostile to the Republic. The result is what might have been expected. In the principal cities, where news papers and public meetings have enabled the voters to gain some idea of the questions at issue, the Republican candidates have been generally successful. In the rural districts the monarchical parties appear to have divded almost the entire field among themselves. Cens. Le Flo and Trochu have been returned by their faithful Bretons from Finisterre; Mr. Thiers has been elected by an enormous majority, and other prominent Orleanists will take their places in the Assembly prepared to advocate the claims of the Court of Paris to the throne. For the shame and disgrace of France, there will be many Imperialists, as, at present reported, and a number of men elected as the candidates of the clergy. The Ultramontanes will doubtless be in favor, as their first choice, of the Count of Chambord, but failing to elect him, they will be much more likely to sell out to the Empire than to trust the rigid honesty of the House of Orleans or the radical liberalism of the Republic.

UTERINE DISEASES

By this term we understand those diseases peculiar to females, such as obstructions, irregularities, cessation, derangements, immoderations, and disorders which are so common, and which exercise such a powerfull influence in the destruction of female health.

It is important that the physician should be able to discriminate closely between these affections; as some of them are directly opposite in their nature, and each requires a specific treatment from the other, a mistake in which would be dangerous and fatal.

That the urine in these disorders is of a peculiar character and quality every physician of experience in this way knows, and can at once percieve the difference between these excesses and deficiences.

And in treating these complaints especially, he must keep in mind these pathological differences, and prescribe such remedies as will check the excesses or restore the diminished secretions, remove the morbid conditions, and reinvigorate the whole system.

The good effects of this kind of treatment will be observed in a very short time, and as a general thing the patient recovers within a few weeks.

We have had hundreds of cases where the good effect of our remedies were observable in a few weeks. The dull, languid expression of the eyes began to disappear, the dark colored circle beneath them gradually lessened, the skin became more natural, the sensation of fullness in the head diminished, the appetite returned, the strength increased, the pallid tint ceased, the nervousness were all, the shortness of breath became less tumultuous, the puffed face was no longer observed, and the disposition became less irritated and more cheerful, and the general health entirely restored.

Many of these changes are among the first signs of improvement after commencing the treatment.

Afflicted women, brighten your hopes and try our remedies.

Our daily practice & observation enables us to determine the precise conditions of the system in every case, and to prescribe the appropriate remedy in every disease.

NEW 7-30 GOLD LOAN.

Safe! Profitable! Permanent!

Jay Cooke & Co.,

offer for sale at par and accrued interest the first Mortgage Land Grant Gold Bonds of the Northern Pacific Railroad Co.

Those bonds are secured, First, by a First Mortgage on the railroad itself, its rolling stock, and all equipments. Second, by a First Mortgage on its entire Land Grant, being more than twenty-two thousand acres of land to each mile of the road.

The bonds are free from United States tax; the principal and interest are payable in gold—the principal at the end of thirty years, and the interest semi annually, at the rate of seven and three tenths per cent. per annum.

They are issued in denominations of $100 $500, $1,000, $5,000, and $10,000.

The trustees under the mortgage are Jay Cooke, of Philadelphia, and J. Edgar Thomson, President of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Co.

These Northern Pacific 7-30 Bonds will at all times before maturity, be receivable at ten per cent. premium (or 1.10) in exchange for the company's lands at their lowest cash price.

In addition to their absolute safety, these bonds yield an income larger, we believe, than any other first class security. Persons holding United States 5-20's can, by converting them into Northern Pacifics, increase their yearly income one third, and still have a perfectly reliable investment.

How to Get Them.—Your nearest bank or banker will supply these bonds in any desired amount, and of any needed denomination. Persons wishing to exchange stocks or other bonds for these, can do so with any of our agents, who will allow the highest current price for all marketable securities.

Those living in localities remote from banks, may send money, or other bonds, directly to us by express, and we will send back Northern Pacific bonds at our own risk, and without cost to the investor. For further particulars pamphlets, maps, etc., call on or address the undersigned, or any of the banks or bankers employed to sell this loan.

DR. WHITTLESEY, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—Having stated it verbally to you, I have no hesitation in writing the fact, although not disposed in favor or to recommend patent medicines in general.

I do this more readily in regard to the sick headache cure prepared by Dr. Whittlesey, of Norwalk, Ohio. I have analyzed and tried it, and I recommend it as one of the best dyspepsia cures ever invented, and I feel that in recommending Whittlesey's cure I am doing at act of justice to the compounder of it, and an act of benevolence to those afflicted with dyspepsia and sick headache, for which it is recommended.

Yours Respectfully,
FRANCIS RAAS, M. D.

Illustrated & Descriptive Catalogue of flower and vegetable seeds,

And Summer Flowering Bulbs,

FOR 1871,

Will be ready for mailing by the middle of January, notwithstanding our great loss of type, paper, engravings, &c., by fire which destroyed the job printing office of the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle, 28th December, 1870. It will be printed on a most elegant new tinted paper, and illustrated with nearly 500 original engravings, and two finely executed colored plates—specimens of all of which were grown by ourselves the past season from our own stock of seeds. In the originality, execution and extent of the engravings it is unlike and eminently superior to any other catalogue or Floral Guide extant.

The catalogue will consist of 112 pages, and as soon as published will be sent free to all who ordered seeds from us by mail last season. To others a charge of 15 cents will be made, which is not the value of the colored plates. We assure our friends that the inducements we offer to purchasers of seeds, as to quality and extent of stock, discounts and premiums, are unsurpassed. Please send orders for catalogues without delay.

Our Colored Crome For 1871.

Will be ready to send out in January. The Chromo will represent 42 varieties of showy and popular flowers of natural size and color. We design to make it the best plate of flowers ever issued. Size 19x24 inches. The retail value would be at least $3; we shall, however, furnish it to customers at 75 cents per copy, and offer it as a premium upon orders for seeds. See catalogue when out.

LOCAL MATTERS.

The meeting of Friday in regard to forming a Young Men's Christian Association, were held at the Methodist church, and to-morrow they will be in the Presbyterian church. We can't report progress until next week.

Dress goods are selling very cheap at Humberger & Son's. Go and see dress goods that are worth 40 cts selling at 20 cts, now is the time to secure barrains.

W. G. Myers will have a public sale on his farm in Chippewa township, Wayne county, on Wed. March 3d. Jas. H. Shauklin, near Lawrence, will also have a similar sale on Tuesday, Feb. 23d. Both of these will be large sales of stock and other materials. P & C Welty of Paint township, Wayne county, will have a public sale on the 21st inst., and J. P. Myers of Jackson township on the 27th inst.

Some of our people seem to think there will be divers empty rooms in town in the spring. A similar prospect has loomed up before, but has not been verified, and it will be so again—there wont be many vacant rooms left after April.

The Star Spangled Banner, of Hinsdale, N. H. exposes a good many of those humbug advertising agents. We have been in the business long enough to know who is trust worthy, and have seldom been caught by their tricks. A recent case, however has cheated a good many of our brethren—some from $50 to $100, while we got off with about $30.

Among the changes of places of business by removals which will take place in the spring, is that of Mr. Durgin, watch maker, who will leave his present location and go a few doors further west, into C. Winbold's building. He will there be prepared at all times to attend promptly to the wants of customers in the selling them clocks, watches, and jewelry, also repairing time pieces at short notice. Mr. D. is a good mechanic and competent to give satisfaction in everything he undertakes.

A considerable number of the Odd Fellow fraternity of this place attended the funeral of one of the brotherhood, on last Sunday, at Dalton. The deceased was a stranger from Michigan by the name of Greenwalt.

On Sunday evening bro. Hingeley, of the M E church, preached for the benefit of the young men, and gave such as heard him some excellent advice, beside sundry warnings. In the course of his remarks he stated that that church has 270 members, 170 of whom are women and 100 men. He also stated that in the state prison there are about 1000 men while there are but about 30 women.

A late Wooster paper notes the fact that a man in that vicinity was recently stricken with almost or quite total blindness, and had his sight restored by an operation performed by Dr. A. Metz of this place. This is but one of many similar instances of relief afforded by the doctor's skill in treating the eye. Patients are constantly visiting this place, some from hundreds of miles distant, in order to avail themselves of the advantages of his treatment. The case is a difficult one, but there are lingering hopes that Dr. Metz will yet be able to partially restore the sight to Mr. Fletcher, who was suddenly stricken by total blindness, accidentally, some 12 or 13 years ago.

The favorite pump near McLain Dangler & Co's. store, which has for weeks refused to spout in response to the wag of the handle, has just been fixed; and that popular drinking resort will certainly be well patronized. During its inactive days many people had taken to using plug water, which was a good substitute so long as the waters were ice bound, but when they are open, using it for drinking and culinary purposes, naturally associates Kendall geese with it.

The political state of the French people is in a very unsettled condition, and the elections recently held do not give very favorable indications that they are prepared for a republic. It will be some time before they will become as warlike as they have been.

Our neighbors are congratulating this city on the fact that a very respectable caboose will soon be completed. Thus far the institution has a very good reputation, but how long that may last we cannot foretell. Putting bad people into it should not cause the good name of the building to suffer.

All who have seen the beautiful frescoing on the walls of the St. John's Evangelical church on Tremont street, cannot but admire the taste, beauty and skill with which the artist did his work. The colors are soft and mild; blend together harmoniously, giving the entire interior an air of comfort and agreeableness which all who enter there will enjoy.

THE SCEPTIC.

As the parson, to church was wending his way,
O'er the slippery pavement, one cold Sabbath day,
The deacon o'ertook, and together they walked,
Discussing the "Lamb and his Bride," as they talked.
It happened, by chance, as they passed through the street,
A feeble, old man, they met on the sleet;
"Turn back!" said the deacon, "you go the wrong way,
For well, you should know, this is God's holy day."
"Most surely, I do," said the man with gray hairs,
And so I have come to offer my prayers;
Though not in a temple of stone, or of wood,
Yet in Nature's own church, which I think just as good."
"You're an infidel, vile!" said the deacon with zeal,
"Repent! ere the wrath of the Maker you feel,"
"Oh! thank you, good deacon, for language so civil,
But Christ, I remember, 'twas said had a devil."
Just then the old gentleman slipped from his feet,
And backward he fell, his whole length on the sleet.
"Ah, we read," said the parson, "in God's holy pages,
That the wicked stand on slippery places."
"I see that they do," said the sceptical man,
"But then, as for me, I'll be hanged if I can."

Unanswerable Arguments.

Established facts are silent arguments which neither tongue or pen can shake, and it is upon established facts that the reputation of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, As a health preserving elixir, and a wholesome and powerful remedy, is based. When witnesses come forward in crowds, year after year, and reiterate the same statements in relation to the beneficial effects of a medicine upon themselves, disbelief in the efficacy is literally impossible. The credentials of his unequaled tonic and alterative, extending over a period of nearly twenty years include individuals of nearly every class, and residents of every clime, and refer to the most prevalent among the complaints which afflict and harass the human family. Either a multitude of people, strangers to each other, have annually been seized with an insane and motiveless desire to deceive the public, or Hostetter's bitters, for no less than a fifth of a century, have been affording relief to sufferers from indigestion, fever and ague, biliousness, general debility, and nervous disorders, as no others preparation has ever imparted. To day, while The eyes of the reader are upon these lines, tens of thousands of persons of both sexes are relying upon the bitters as a sure defence against the ailments which the present season engenders and their confidence is not misplaced. The local portions which interested dealers sometimes endeavor to foist upon the sick in its stead, are everywhere meeting the fate that is due to fraud and imposture, while the demand for the great vegetable tonic is constantly increasing.

TO PHYSICIANS.

New York, August 15th, 1868.

Allow to call attention to my Preperation of Compound Extract Buchu. The component parts are, Buchu, Long Leaf Cubebs, Juniper Berries.

Mode of Preparation.—Buchu, in vacuo. Juniper berries by distillation to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries, very little sugar is used and a small proportion of spirits. It is more palatable than any now in use.

Buchu as prepared by druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The buchu in my preparation is prepared into ; smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection it will be found not to be a tincture, as made in pharmacopea, nor is it a syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflamation exists. In this, you have a knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of profound confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and druggist of 19 years experience.

(From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the world.)

November 7, 1851.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my res , and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before. And I have been very favorably impressed with his character and enterprise.

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN,
Firm os Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU.

For weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found indisposition to exertion, loss of memory, wakefulness, horror of disease, or forebodings of evil, in fact, universal lassitude, prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyment of society.

THE CONSTITUTION

once affected with organic weakness, requires the aid of medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which Helmbold's Extract Buchu invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, consumption or insanity ensues.

Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu

in affections peculiar to females, is unequaled by any other preparation, as in chlorosis, or retention, painful, or suppression of customary evacuations, ulcerated or Schirrus state of the uterus, and all complaints incidental to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu

AND

will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure, completely superceding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies copaiva and mercury, in all these diseases.

USE

Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu

In all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whate cause originating, and no matter how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, immediate in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of bark or iron.

Those suffering from broken down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, howeve slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it as certain to effect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. Helmbold's Extract Buchu is the great Diuretic.

Sold by druggists everywhere. Price $1,25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6,50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications. Address,

Hoofland's German Bitters,

Hoofland's German Tonic,

Hoofland's Podophyllin Pill

Hoofland's Greek Oil

Hoofland's German Bitters,

A Bitters without Alcohol or Spirits in any kind.

Is different from all others. It is composed of the pure juices or vital principle of roots, herbs, and barks, (or as medicinally termed extracts), the worthless or inert portions of the ingredients not being used. Therefore, in one bottle of this bitters there is contained as much medicinal virtues as will be found in several gallons of ordinary mixtures. The roots &c., used in this bitters are grown in Germany, their vital principles extracted in that country by a scientific chemist and forwarded to the manufactory in this city, where they are compounded and bottled. Containing no spirituous ingredients, this bitters is free from the objections urged against all others; no desire for stimulants can be induced from their use, they cannot make drunkards, and cannot under any circumstances have any but a beneficial effect.

Hoofland's German Tonic

Was compounded for those not inclined to extreme bitters, and is intended for use in cases where some alcoholic stimulant is required in connecting with the tonic properties of the bitters. Each bottle of the tonic contains one bottle of the bitters, combined with pure Santa Cruz Rum, and flavored in such a manner that the extreme bitterness of the bitters is overcome, forming a preparation highly agreeable and pleasant to the palate and containing the medicinal virtues of the bitters. The price of the tonic is $1,50 per bottle, which many persons think too high. They must take into consideration that the stimulant used is guaranteed to be of a pure quality. A poor article could be furnished at a cheaper price, but is it not better to pay a little more and have a good article? A medicinal preparation should contain only the best ingredients, and they who expect to obtain a cheap compound will most certainly be cheated.

They are the Specific Remedies

For Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, Jaundice, Diseases of the Kidneys, Eruptions of the Skin, and all diseases arising from a disordered Liver, or Stomach, or Impurity of the Blood.

Read the following symptoms:

Constipation, flatulence, inward piles, fullness of blood to the head, acidity of the stomach, nausea, heartburn, disgust for food, fullness or weight in the stomach, sour eructations, sinking or fluttering at the pit of the stomach, swimming of the head, hurried or difficult breathing, fluttering at the heart, choking or suffocating sensations when in a lying posture, dimness of vision, dots or webs before the sight, dull pain in the head, deficiency of perspiration, yellowness of the skin, and eyes, pain in the side, back, chest, limbs, &c., sudden flushes of heat, burning in the flesh, constant imaginings of evil, and great depression of spirits. All these indicate disease of the liver or digestive organs combined with impure blood.

The use of the bitters or tonic will soon cause the above symptoms to disappear, and the patient will become well and healthy.

Dr. Hoofland's Greek Oil,

LIGHTNING CURE FOR ALL KINDS OF PAINS AND ACHES.

APPLIED INTERNALLY.—It will cure kidney complaints, bilious attacks, sick headaches, colic, dysentery, diarrhœa, cholera Infantum, cholera morbus, cramps, and pains in the stomach, fever and ague, colds, coughs, sore throat, &c.

APPLIED EXTERNALLY.—It will cure all kinds of pains and aches, such as rheumatism, neuralgia, toothache, chilblains, sprains, bruises, frost bites, headaches, pains in the back and loins, pains in the joints or limbs, stings of insects, ringworms, &c.

Dr. Hoofland's Podophyllin.

Substitute for Mercury Pill.

TWO PILLS A DOSE.

The most powerful yet innocent vegetable cathartic known.

It is not necessary to take a handful of these pills to produce the desired effect, two of them act quickly and powerfully, cleansing the bowels of all impurities. The principal ingredient is Podophyllin, or the alcoholic extract of mandrake which is by many times more powerful, acting and searching than the mandrake itself. Its gentle action is unparalleled, cleansing it speedily from all obstructions, with all the power of mercury, yet free from the injurious results attending the use of that mineral.

For all diseases in which the use of a cathartic is indicated, these pills will give entire satisfaction in every case. They act easily and surely.

In cases of liver complaint, dyspepsia, and extreme costiveness, Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters or tonic should be used in connection with the pills. The tonic effects of the bitters or tonic builds up the system. The bitters or tonic purifies the blood, and strengthens the nerves, regulates the liver, and gives strength, energy, and vigor.

Keep your bowels active with the pills, and tone up the system with bitters or tonic, and no disease can retain its hold, or ever assail you.

These medicines are sold, by all druggists and dealers in medicines everywhere.

Recollect that it is Dr. Hoofland's German Remedies, that are so universally used and highly recommended, and do not allow the druggist to induce you to take anything else that he may say is just as good, because he makes a larger profit on it. These remedies will be sent by express to any locality, upon application to the principal office, at the German Medical Store, 631 Arch Street, Pa.

Chas. M. Evans, Prop.

Formerly C. M. Jackson & Co.

These remedies are for sale by druggists, storekeepers, and medicine dealers, everywhere throughout the United States, Canadas, So America and the West Indies. 339-1y

THE PARROT.

The parrot is one of the prettiest birds that there are. Some of them learn to repeat words quite plain. They can learn bad and improper words as well as good ones; on this ability, many mischievous boys are often taking advantage, and teaching them improper words. The parrot will also pick up words of his own accord. I heard of a parrot that was kept by man who lived near the docks of Liverpool. The traffic that was between America and East India with that city, caused a great deal of loading and unloading. In such cases, the word back would be mostly used, which word became the parrot's favorite word. One day, a fine team of large black horses was left standing near the house where the parrot was kept. And while the driver was helping to load another cart, the parrot commenced to cry out, back! back! back! The more the poor horses would back, the more the parrot would cry out; and before the driver could come to the rescue, the horses backed themselves over the high docks into the sea

Dear reader, there are many words, which are not improper in themselves, but by using them on improper seasons, they are very injurious.

Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy produces perfect cures of the worst cases of Catarrh. Cold in the head, Coriza and Catarrhal Headache, as hundreds of testimonials from well known citizens and eminent physicians who have used it in their practice abundantly testify. It is mild, pleasant and unirritating. The proprietor offers $500 for a case of Catarrh that he cannot cure. Sent to any address by mail on receipt of sixty cents. Address R. V. Pierce, M. D., 133 Seneca street, Buffalo, N Y. Sold by druggists. Remember that Dr. Pierce's private Government Revenue Stamp is on every package of Genuine.

A green customer, who was a stranger to mirrors, and who stepped into one of our ocean steamers, stopped in front of a large pier glass, which he took to be a door, and seeing his own reflection, said:

"I say, mister, when does this boat start?"

Getting no answer from the dumb reflection before him he again asked:

"I say, mister, when does this ere boat start?"

Incensed at the silent figure, he then broke out:

"Go to thunder! ye cursed sassafras colored, sock headed bull calf! you don't look as if you knowed much anyhow.'

A smart colored boy who has been for some time clerking in the United States Marshal's office in Memphis, has got a place in the Louisana legislature as engrossing cleak, at seven dollars per day.

The negro population of Virginia and West Virginia, free colored and slave, in 1860, numbered 340,815; while in 1870 they only number 314,885 showing a falling off of 36,030.

A Buffalo preacher thus addressed the throne of Grace one Sunday morning:

"O, Lord, bless those who are present, bless those who are on their way hither; bless those who are getting ready to come; bless those who did not come at all; and in a special manner, we pray Thee, bless those who arrived in time to hear the first prayer."

Only one glass! And how many have filled a drunkard's grave through its influence. How many homes are made desolate, how many bright anticipations of a glad and happy future blasted by its blighting influence.

Dan Rice is about to begin his thirty-seventh farewell tour. Dan is the farewellest man in the business, and runs a newspaper at Girard; in addition to his other clownish and educated mules duties.

Don't keep in a constant fret about things that may be annoying, or worrying about things you can't help. Troubles are not lightened by fretting. The true remedy is to keep cool and try to master difficulties, and not let them master you.

A cowardly fellow having kicked a newsboy for pestering him to buy an evening paper, the lad waited till another boy accosted the gentleman, and then shouted, in the hearing of all the bystanders, 'It's no use to try him, Jim; he cant read.'

A Detroiter, who took a flask of whisky with him on a shooting trip, struck a race track in the suburbs on his return, and walked around it all night, wondering why he didn't get to town.

Woman—The morning star of our youth; the day star of our manhood; the evening star of our old age. Heaven bless our stars!

'That was greedy of you, Tommy, to eat your little sister's share of the cake.' 'You told me, ma, I was always to take her part,' said Tommy.

Gen Jackson sometimes said a good thing. The following is recorded of him: 'I never fought but one duel in my life and that was when I popped the question.

A Cincinnati German had some country visitors, and among other things showed them how to operate the fire alarm telegraph. When two steamers rushed to the spot he said he thought they wouldn't come unless there was a fire. He paid $10 and costs for the mistake.

McDONALD & BRUCE

The Independent,

Massillon, Ohio.

Is now Seven Years Old, and

"Still Lives."

Without boasting of being an organ of immense influence, we may with diffidence claim that the paper is not without usefulness in the right direction, ever contending for justice on all the living issues of the day. But its principal business has ever been to subserve the local interests of the community with which it is identified, and so it proposes to continue. Its home record of the ever varying phases of business, of the prosperity of the city, and of the social and moral state of society here, with other matters too numerous to specify, will give those who come after us, and have occasion to examine the files of this paper, a faithful history of the years of its existence.

We solicit the continued patronage of our people in the confidence that we shall render satisfaction—at least as near as we can come at it—and for such as are removing elsewhere we hope to make the INDEPENDENT a very welcome visitor.

Dr. J. LONG,

Eclectic Physician,

Has located himself at Massillon, O., for the treatment of Female & Chronic Diseases.

Office on Main street, four doors east of the American Hotel.

All consultations and examinations of patients made free of charge.

Dr. Long examines and explains your disease without asking any questions. If he understands your case you know it, and cannot be deceived. If he cannot tell your disease, and how you feel without asking questions he does not consider himself competent to treat your case. This is the criterion to go by, and patients should not be satisfied with any other. This is the only direct and positive evidence of my ability as a scientific physician, and by this standard I am willing to be judged.

A proper diagnosis of local disease, without constitutional symptoms, that is, not affecting the system generally, must depend upon the judgement of both patient and physician.

Give Dr. Long a call, and satisfy yourselves whether he understands your cases sufficiently well to treat them successfully.

Dr. Long may be consulted in the German and English languages. Address letters,

A LECTURE TO YOUNG MEN,

Just Published, in a Sealed Envelope, Price six cents. A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment and Radical Cure of of Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal weakness, involuntary seminal losses, impotency, mental and physical incapacity, impediments to marriage, etc.; also, consumption, epilepsy, and fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates from a thirty years successful practice that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, postpaid on receipt of six cents or two post stamps.

Also, Dr. Culverwells "Marriage Guide," price 25 cents.

Continues to treat all private diseases, syphilis in all its forms, gonorrhœa, gleet, stricture, orchitis, and all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; spermatorrhœa or seminal weakness and impotency, resulting from self abuse or other causes, and which produce some of the following effects, as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured.

It is self evident, that the physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire a greater skill in that speciality than one in general practice.

The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be sent by mail or express.

The doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases that can be had free at office or by mail, in sealed envelope, for two stamps. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.

I do not wish to inform you, reader, that Dr. Wonderful, or any other man, has discovered a remedy that cures consumption, when the lungs are half consumed; in short, will cure all diseases whether of mind, body, or estate, make men live forever, and have death to play for want of work, and is designed to make our sublunary sphere a blissful paradise, to which heaven itself shall be but a side show. You have heard enough of that kind of humbuggery. But what I tell you is that Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy will cure the worst cases of catarrh in the head. I only assert that which thousands can testify to. I will pay $500 reward for a case that I cannot cure. A pamphlet giving symptoms and other information sent free to any address. This remedy is Sold by Most Druggists in all parts of the World.

Price 50 cents. Sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of sixty cents, or four packages for two dollars. Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. See that my private stamp, which is a positive guarantee of genuineness, is upon the outside wrapper. Remember that this private stamp issued by the U S government expressly for stamping my medicines, has my portrait, name and address and the words U S Certificate of Genuineness engraved upon it, and need not be mistaken. Don't be swindled by travelers and others representing themselves as Dr. Sage, I am the only man now living that has the knowledge and right to manufacture the genuine Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. I never travel to sell this medicine. R. V. PIERCE, M. D. 133 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y. 350-2m
